

Where Do I Start When a Child Has a Multiple Diagnosis?

The course will include:

- An overview of what kind of conditions are likely to co-occur (comorbidity)
- Identifying and understanding the differences and subtleties of conditions which co-occur
- Trusting your eyes and ears and making rational judgements on where to start helping the child
- Being aware of other co-occurring conditions when working with a child
- Prioritising the elements of co-occurring conditions – including a range of practical activities and case studies
- Sam and Isaac

Course Outcomes...

This training is supported by case studies and workshop activities during which each delegate will learn to:

- Understand that conditions often co-occur and make rational judgements on where to prioritise interventions
- Look for the signs of different conditions and presentations in individuals
- Apply a range of strategies to support the more complex needs of young people with co-occurring conditions
